

Davis+Gilbert Recognized as a Top Tier Law Firm in Media Law International's 2020 Rankings

Media Law International has ranked Davis+Gilbert as a Tier 1 law firm for media law for the fourth consecutive year. MLI's rankings are based on qualitative research and objective market analysis from law firms, clients and other industry participants. The firm's Entertainment, Media & Sports Practice Group, led by Ashima Dayal and Jim Johnston, was praised by clients for "the depth and breadth" of its practice, and its ability to balance clients' legal needs against business demands.

About Media Law International

Media Law International is a leading guide to leading media law firms around the world. The annual publication provides comprehensive coverage of firms and practitioners with media law expertise, across 56 jurisdictions, as well as country-specific intelligence reports outlining market trends and developments.