

Davis+Gilbert Relocates Office in Midtown Manhattan

Davis+Gilbert LLP is pleased to announce that the firm has relocated its headquarters to 1675 Broadway. The firm's 15-year, 86,000 square-foot lease occupies the 31st through 34th floor and part of the 35th floor.

As a full service law firm with over 130 attorneys, the new location – just steps from Times Square and Central Park – continues the tradition of keeping the firm's many vibrant practice groups in the heart of Manhattan for years to come.

"Our move comes after an extensive search for a space that would enable us to build out a modern, open and airy design, allowing our practices to continue their collaborative nature," said Davis+Gilbert Chairman Ronald Urbach.

Built in 1989 by Jack and Lewis Rudin, 1675 Broadway has notable features such as an Italian marble-clad lobby with vaulted ceilings, virtually column-free floor plates that can provide a variety of offices, outstanding views, state of the art connectivity, convenient access to transportation and prime location steps from Times Square and Central Park.

Davis+Gilbert partnered with the CBRE team of Lewis Miller, Scott Gottlieb, Brian Gell and Michael Wellen and global architecture, design, and planning firm Gensler built out the space.
