

Insolvency + Finance Webinar | Subprime Auto: Reflections on 2021 and Expectations for 2022

While record used vehicle prices and a powerful mix of government support and private action have all contributed to the subprime auto market's success, the pandemic's persistence is creating uncertainty and has the potential to upend the market's trajectory.

To help navigate this uncharted terrain, we've assembled a panel of industry professionals engaged in origination, servicing, issuance, investing and credit ratings. The panel will examine how participants' expectations polled in Credit Chronometer's 2021 market study compare to actual year-end results and share their expectations for 2022 and beyond.

Key topics will include:

- Factors impacting the course of loan and deal performance
- Expected trends in credit enhancements, credit ratings and credit quality
- Regulatory issues to watch
