Overview

James Mowder supports litigation teams with the critical information they need to provide responsive and flexible representation. He assists in structured finance litigation involving mortgage-backed securities by delving into client business processes, illustrating important issues and identifying salient facts. He conducts e-discovery activities, navigating the numerous important documents involved and fact-checking every claim. James also ensures the accuracy and methodological soundness of expert reports. He was previously an associate at a small firm that focused on labor, employment and pension law.
